

THE KNOWLEDGE AND ATTITUDES MOTHER WITH PRECAUTIONS BABY JAUNDICE NEONATORUM HANDLING IN THE YEAR ROMAULI ZR 2018

Bernadetta Ambarita*, R.Oktaviance.S

,Lecturer at STIKes Santa Elisabeth Medan

ABSTRACT

Background: jaundice neonatorum is fenonema biological resulting from the high production excretionof bilirubin during the transition in neonates.Neonates producing bilirubin 2 until 3. four times as high as adultsThis may be due to the number of eritosit on neonates more he. shorterThe purpose of research to know the knowledge and a mother with precaution handling neonatorum infant jaundice

Subject and Method : design descriptive research was used in the study .The total sample in this research by 48 people mother with the baby jaundice neonatorum .The sample collection is performed by the use the sampling method of total .The research was conducted at the clinic romaui zr .An instrument in this research in the form of the questionnaire which includes demographic data , the questionnaire knowledge and attitude with a precaution the handling of an infant jaundice neonatorum

Result : the research results show that the majority of knowledge mother with precautions baby handling jaundice neonatorum knowledgeable less as many as 26 (54,2%) and be negative and act as many as 36 (75 %) and a signifikan between knowledge and attitudes mother with precautions handling neonatorum baby jaundice

Conclusion: expected to health services in the provision of the service the care of obstetrics especially in infants jaundice neonatorum , not do possess wisdom and good behavior , but have to be able to his actions in the face of infected baby neonatorum jaundice.

Keywords: Knowledge , Attitude , Action , Jaundice Neonatorum